All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system.
Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs.
L. A. Brown, Dunford Falls, Me.

BAD BOYS' DAY IN DIEHL'S COURT.

Pathetic Scene When Aged Father Made a Passionate Plea
For His Son.

HAD REARED 22 CHILDREN.

Seamy Side of Life Laid Bare in the Old Court Room This Morning.

George T. Thomas, who is 76 years old and helpless from old age, made an appeal before Judge Diehl this morning to save his son from the reform school that touched both the court and the members of the force as appeals for mercy seldom do. The old man had come to listen to the case against his son, Ben Thomas, who with a boy named Lawrence Martin, was arrested by Officer Furstner on the charge of stealing 15 beer bottles from 63 west First South street. The boys were free in admitting their guilt. Young Thomas said he went there with a sack, saw the bottles in a case and just took 15 of them on speculation. He was going to divide the profits with the other boy. When asked if he had ever been in court before he said he had, about a year and a half ago, for stealing some blades. Martin, who is a good-looking lad, also confessed to having been before the judge on a previous occasion, about a year ago for stealing a telephone receiver.

The old man was asked if he wanted to make any statements or ask any questions before the passing of sentence. He said "No," but a moment later when the prosecuting attorney recommended that the boys be sent to the reform school since it was evident that they were old offenders, he advanced to the judge's desk, and asked if he might speak.

"Certainly," replied the judge, and he began on a simple narrative of his life, his trials and tribulations in correcting the boys. "I have lived a long time," he went on, "I do not drink, or smoke, and I have taught my children to do right.
Where this boy gets his wickedness from I do not know, and I cannot understand. I was born in the year '28, in Wales, and I will be 76 years of age in November. I have no way to live any more, for they won't have me to work for them. My wife is a younger woman and she works five days a week to support me. We have hoped to raise our boy to help us in our old age, and he is a big boy now, and strong. I do not speak against justice; I don't want you to let him free because he has not done wrong. I want you to do justice, and I know you can send him there. But it will take him away from me, and then I have raised my boy for nothing. I now ask you to let him go. If you will do that I will send him to his brother, and have him take the boy away from this city, where there are so many wicked boys to lead him into wrong. I am the father of 22 children, and raised three that didn't belong to me, and I have worked all my life to support them.

Half of my life I worked under the ground in a mine, and now I do not like to be left alone without any children to help me when I am weak, and cannot work."

During his father's talk the boy's face gradually changed expression from one of careless defiance to one of shame, and finally he broke down completely, and sobbed aloud. An old patrolman had to leave the room during the talk, and when he was asked outside for smoking (testimony) he answered, "If—who wouldn't be fazed by a talk like that. It's about the worst I ever listened to."

Judge Diehl took the matter under consideration and will announce sentence Monday.

OTHER WILD BOYS.

It was bad boys' day at the court session. Besides the two boys up for stealing bottles, Floyd Miller, aged 15, David Chase, aged 13, and Eddie Wells, aged 15, were brought up for incorrigi-bility. They were arrested by Officer J. D. Brown. They pleaded not guilty.
Harold McMan faced the judge on the charge of incorrigibility, with strong indications of ultimately landing in the reform school. He is not yet 17 years old, but is often seen in the vicinity of the Alley, and of Second South street rooming houses. Her parents, who reside in Sandy, were not present. Her trial was set for Wednesday, at which time an effort will be made to have her parents present.

J. Haynie claimed he was not guilty of the charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to do bodily harm. He will be tried Monday at 10 a. m., and in default of $200 bail, will remain in custody.

Charles Chase, a morphia fiend who was rounded up by Patrolman Simpson on Second South street at 1 o'clock this morning, with an extra long barreled and 38-caliber revolver in one pocket, and a package of shells in the other, will be tried Monday, on the charge of carrying concealed weapons.

COST HIM FORTY DAYS.

William Campbell will do 40 worth of work on the city chain gang, for begging from a police captain and city Councilman Dean, within a few hours after being released on the charge of vagrancy yesterday.

He had money with him when first arrested, which was turned over to him on departing at noon. However, he didn't recognize Capt. Burdick in citizen's clothes, and braced him on the street for a meal. He didn't know Councilman Dean was a city father with a protecting eye for the city's laws, and he begged from him. He was caught in the act by Officer John who returned him up to Judge Diehl. He passed him up to Judge Diehl. He passed him up to Judge Diehl. He passed him up to Judge Diehl.

DAUGHTERS OF PIONEERS

Special Session to Commemorate Arrival of Daniel Spencer's Company.

Yesterday afternoon the Daughters of Utah Pioneers held a special session in commemoration of the day of entrance of Daniel Spencer's company to the valley, his being the first to enter in 1847, after the coming of the original band on July 24th of the same year. The society met at the home of Miss Josephine Spencer.

The chaplain, Mrs. Margaret Peiros Young, opened the meeting with prayer.
The reception room was decorated in sandalwood, emblematic of pioneer days. The program began with musical selections by a quartet composed of J.
D. Spencer, H. G. Whitney, George D.
Pyper and Will Patrick, among them being the old pioneer chorale, "Hard Times Come Again No More."

Bishop Whitney gave the topic of the day, "The Spencer Family in Early Days," and made an interesting resume of the lives of Daniel, Hiram and Orson Spencer, in their connection with the history of early Utah days.

He began with an interesting sketch of the conversion of Daniel Spencer to "Mormonism," with a recital of his many sacrifices for his convictions and his influence in leading others of the family to its cause. His connection with the Church from this time on was briefly recited, dealing with his position as mayor of Nauvoo, and as one of the leaders and exponents of the famous Smith in the movement of the great exodus from that place, together with his part in settling and building up this city, and positions as legislator, councilor and president of the Salt Lake state.

Interwoven with this were reminis-cences of the two brothers, Orson and Hyrum, the latter from his position as first agent of the University of Utah and author of the famous Spencer letters being particularly dwelt upon. In conclusion the speaker gave a striking picture of the perils and difficulties faced by those who undertook the colonization of these deserts, and especially those to be met by the people who came to this valley. The names of such salwart pioneers as Newell K. Whitney, Samuel Richards and Charles Rich were mentioned among the many noble

UTAH PRODUCTS GO TO CANADA.

Hewlett Bros. Co. of This City Receive Large Order
From

HARKER, HEAD & COMPANY OF M'GRATH.

Former Utah Residents Must Have Three Crown.

Hewlett Brothers Co., the well-known manufacturers of this city have just made a large shipment of their Three Crown products to Harker, Head & Co., of McGrath, Alta., Canada.

The shipment included Three Crown Baking Powder, Extracts and Spices.
In securing this order the local firm had to compete with the large concerns of the Canadian trade centres, but on account of the superior quality of the Three Crown products the order was awarded to the local house.

Another reason given for placing this order in the Salt Lake market is the fact that many of the residents of Mc-Grath and the surrounding country were formerly Utah citizens, and naturally would prefer a product with which they were acquainted, and on which they could depend.

men who gave their lives and life's labors for the foundation of our splendid state. Bishop Whitney finished with a eulogy to all those who had thus struggled and declared that the societies formed for the commemoration of the pioneers and their services were enlisted in a noble cause. Some miscellaneous business was transacted and the meeting closed with one of the old-time hymns, and prayer by the chaplain.

BIG FIRE OVER JORDAN.

At about 2:15 this afternoon fire broke out in the barns of the Star dairy, located about a mile over the Jordan river, on North Temple street. A tardy alarm was received at first headquarters after the fire had gained a great deal of headway, and an engine and hose cart was sent out. The fire is still raging, and it seems that the entire plant, including the residence, hay stacks and stock is doomed to destruction. The dairy is owned by S. H. Ru-nel.

IS IT PURE?

Hundreds of Utah people who have resided or traveled in Europe know of its great popularity there. Because it tastes like ordinary coffee, some might imagine it to be "doctored" to produce that flavor. The following from Chemist Harms proves that such is not the case. It is the drink Utah people have been looking for for years.
